

Free Picks – June 8th

Four weeks of winners on MLB picks! After a couple weeks off, we are back with strong two MLB picks this week. Capitalize on our INCREDIBLE streak today!

Both the Los Angeles Angels and the St. Louis Cardinals have been swinging good lumber in recent weeks, and the fact that both teams got held up last game does not eliminate the overriding trend in this situation. Bartolo Colon vs. Kip Wells is the kind of pitching matchup that hitters on each team dream about. These two pitchers allowed combined 24 runs in their last two starts. On the road, Colon has put up ugly numbers - his ERA is 6.85 this season. The Over is a solid 6-2 in his eight starts. Wells has been mostly the "fade" guy this season, 2-10 with a 6.40 ERA in 12 starts. If the Angels don't get to Wells, they may as well "pack it in". Take all these facts, and combine them with two teams each hitting very well in their recent games. They are bound to score some big time run totals.

Play Over 9.5 (Los Angeles Angels / St. Louis Cardinals)

The Padres made a miracle comeback win in the 9th inning last night against the Dodgers, and they will show up in a big way tonight behind Justin Germano. Many of you might not have heard this name, but he has pitched outstanding this year going 4-0 with a 1.74 ERA and a 0.81 WHIP. He should have no problem putting away the light hitting Mariners. His opponent is journeymen Miguel Batista, who is 6-4 on the year with a 5.43 ERA. He has won his last three starts but we don't think this rusty right hander can keep his solid performance against the Padres on the road. San Diego will win this game comfortably.

Play San Diego Padres, Moneyline

GoSportsBet is continuing a promotion for our subscribers where if you play these weekly picks at their site and lose money, they will give you a partial rebate of your wager. Check out <http://www.gosportsbet.com/promos/specials/insiders5.php> for more info!